SOUTHERN STEEL RUMORS

Tennessee Coal and Iron Touched 124 on Merger Report.

With the exception of February 27, yesterday was the most active day of the current year in Wall Street in the volume of business transacted on the Stock Exchange, while probably never before was there a day when there were so many varied market improvements, so many sharp fuctuations in quotations and so many reports concerning various properties. A sensational savance in the stock of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, accompanied by a sharp rise in the quotations of other Southern iron securities, led to a renewal of the rumor that there was to be a merger of the iron and steel properties in the South: that Tennessee Coal and Iron stock would be taken over at 125 (touched 124 yesperday); that Sloss-Sheffield would go in at 100, and that Republic Iron and Steel-that is, the Southern properties of this concern-would also igure in the proposed amalgamation. It was also reported that the Virginia Iron, Coal and 20ke Company would be a party to the com-

There is good authority for the statement that such an amalgamation soon will be brought about, and that the so-called Gates interests will be influential factors in forming the combination. Mr. Gates and his friends for many months have been quietly picking up the stock of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company, also the stock of the Sloss-Sheffield Company; and while the Woodward or Hanover Bank interests are supposed to control the Tennessee Company, it is believed that the stock has now reached their price and that their holdings will go into a combination engineered by Mr. Gates, Mr. Hoadley tried a number of months ago to secure control of the company, but failed. The advance in the stock yesterday amounted to over 11 points, while Sloss-Sheffield gained for the day 6 points, The Republic Iron and Steel shares advanced nearly 5 for the common and over 2 for the

In addition to the excitement in the Street caused by the big gains in the Southern iron and steel shares, traders were interested in the break in the stocks of the Rock Island Company, which in the common amounted to 1% and in the preferred to 5 per cent. It was reported that the insiders were selling, also that the next dividend on the preferred either would be cut or passed The following statement issued by W. H. Moore, one of the leading directors, therefore is of in-

We are in the Rock Island to stay, and reports to the contrary are without foundation. We are looking after the Rock Island property, not the stocks. The property has turned the corner. The treasury is strong; the road doing well. We have spent millions on the equipment and road-way, and we are going to continue the pro-gramme. As to the preferred dividend, that is a matter to be decided when we come to it, about the first week in January.

B. L. Winchell, president of the company, said that he knew of no reason for the big decline in the read's securities and the persistent selling. It is raid that the Harriman interests are bearing the stock in order to secure control of the property, but this idea has few believers. It is not thought likely by men in Wall Street that the men who reorganized the Rock Island—the men who have spent their time and their money on the property—will now let its control pass. The Moores and the Reids and the other capitalists who are interested in the property might, of course, be caught in a market coup by which they might unwillingly lose their grip on the company, but such a possibility, according to market judges, is extremely remote.

The third point of interest in the stock market was the sensational rise in National Lead, the stock closing the day at a net gain of 7% points. The upward movement in this issue was accompanied by a variety of rumors to account for the rise. The old story, not only of a resumption of the stock closing the story, not only of a resumption of the story of the story. that he knew of no reason for the big decline in the rise. The old story, not only of a resump-tion of negotiations but the actual conclusion of negotiations for a merger with the United Lead Company was again paraded for duty. Definite news of the abandonment of this deal was an-nounced last week. In order to vary the monot-ony of this tale to some extent however vesony of this tale to some extent, however, yes-terday's story had it that the United Lead Company had taken over the National Lead Company. The preceding negotiations had in view the absorption of the United Lead Company by the National. Persons in a position to speak with authority declared there was absolutely nothing in this report and the relations between the two companies were no different than a week ago.

Another theory with some novelty in it was that plans were being matured by the National Lead Company for the retirement of its preferred stock at par. The specific object of this move was not revealed, but the report received no credence in well informed quarters. By the terms of the charter of the National Lead Company, which was amended some years ago, authority was given the directors to retire the first preferred stock. This amendment was made for a specific purpose at the time, to be carried out in connection with the proposed merger which at that time was also in prospect. So far as could be learned, the National Lead Company has no intention of retiring the preferred stock.

The advances throughout the industrial list in the stock market were so heavy, there was so much evidence of manipulation and so many indications that some of the more cautious operators are called their baddings that their way are dications that some of the more cautious operators were selling their holdings that many carefor were selling their holdings that many careful observers of market movements volunteered the opinion that it would not be long before a sharp decline would be recorded on the Stock Exchange. On the other hand, the market leaders were confident of their ability to hold up prices. Money is growing easier, and there appears to be no chance of gold exports at present. Nevertheless, prices for securities are high and, according to the contraction of their ability of the contraction of their ability of the contraction of their ability of the contraction of the prices for securities are high and. according to conservative judges, speculative re-action would help rather than injure the situa-tion.

MRS. ROGERS TO DIE.

Her Appeal Denied by United States Supreme Court.

Washington, Nov. 27 .- The Supreme Court of the United States to-day affirmed the decision of the United States District Court of Vermont in the case of Mrs. Mary Mabel Rogers, who is under sentence of death for the murder of her husband. The effect of the decision will be to place the responsibility of dealing with the case again in the hands of the State authorities, and if in the mean time neither the Governor nor the State courts take action in Mrs Rogers's behalf her execution must occur on December 8, next. The court held, in effect, that it was without jurisdiction on all the peints raised. The opinion concluded with an order that the mandate issue at once. This will obviate the raising of the question of possible postponement of the day of execution.

In his opinion Justice Day laid no stress on the sex of Mrs. Rogers, but dealt with the case on purely legal grounds. Reciting the facts in the case he took up the various efforts made in the woman's behalf, holding each in turn to be ineffective.

The case came to the Supreme Court on an appeal from the refusal of the United States District Court of Vermont to grant to Mrs. Rogers a writ of habeas corpus after the Supreme Court of the State had refused a new trial. The charge against Mrs. Rogers is that of murdering her husband by administering chloroform at Bennington, Vt., in 1902. She was tried in December, 1903, and sentenced to death. The case has attracted much attention on account of the defendant's sex and because of the many narrow escapes she has had fron paying the extreme penalty for her crime. Her execution was fixed for February 3, 1905, but the Governor of the State, on February 1, granted a reprieve until June 2. When it seemed that she must in evitably be hanged on the day fixed the Governor, on June 1, again came to the woman's rescue, moving the date up to June 23. The last rescue, moving the date up to June 22. The maximal reprieve was granted on June 22, to permit an investigation by the federal courts.

The various reprieves granted by the Governor were seized upon by the attorneys of Mrs. Rogers to support their plea for absolute release. They contended that these stays of execution and the fixing of dates for hanging by the State's chief executive other than the day named by the trial court was illegal and that her detection in prison under them amounted ar detention in prison under them amounted deprivation of her rights under the consti-

Mrs. Mary A. Rogers was convicted of murder in the first degree on December 22, 1903, at Bennington, Vt. The alleged motives for her crime were her affection for another man and a desire to secure the insurance on her husband's life, with which to take up housekeeping with her lover. She gave her husband, Marcus H. Rogers, chloro-form, after meeting him for the pretended purpose of reconciliation. While embracing him she administered the drug. She was aided by Leon Per-ham and Stella Bates. The body of Rogers was thrown into the Willamosac River.

Under the Vermont law a session of the legisthe sentence of death imposed on Mrs Rogers could be inflicted. Every possible delay has been sought, and after the Governor had reprieved the murderess the case was carried to the United States Supreme Court. If Mrs. Rogers is executed it will be the first infliction of the capital penalty in Vermont in a dozen years. lature, which meets biennially, had to occur before

CANNOT INVOKE FEDERAL LAW.

Witness Must Testify in State Anti-Trust Prosecutions.

Washington, Nov. 27 .- In the case of John D. Jack against the State of Kansas the Supreme Court of the United States to-day held that the federal Constitution and laws cannot be invoked to relieve a witness from testifying before a State court in a proceeding involving anti trust laws of the State, thus affirming the decision of the State Supre e Court. Justice Peckham delivered the

This case was brought to the Supreme Court District Court of Shawnes County in a proceeding under the State anti toust law against the coal operators of that county on the charge of entering into a combination to fix the price of coal, Jack is the owner of a coal mine, and his refusal to give testimony was based on the ground that to do so would have a tendency to incriminate himourt ordered that he should be imprisoned entil willing to answer Jack contended that the State law was unconstitutional in that it deprives him of liberty, takes property without due process of law and denies equal protection under law. Justice Peckham said:

tice Peckham said:

He conterds that the immunity granted by the State stature, while enfort g the giving of testinony which may incrin inate the parry i terrogated as a violator of that stature, is n t and could not be broad enough to provide immunity from prosecution under the federal anti-trust statute. The State could not, of course, prevent a prosecution of the sine party und r the United states a use, and it could not are ent the testimony given by the party in the State proceeding from being used against the same erson in a felleral our for a vollation of a federal statute if it could be imagined that such prosecutions would be instituted under such drawnsiances. Is this fact for all to the proceeding? We think not. We do not believe that in such case there is any real canger of a federal prosecution or had such evidence would be aviled of by the government for such purpose. We think that the legal immunity is in regard to a prosecution in the same furification, and when that is fully given it is enough.

NEW-YORK MAIL CONTRACT DECISION. Washington, Nov. 27.-In an opinion by Justice the Supreme Court of the United States today affirmed the decision of the Court of Claims in the case of the United States against the Utah. Nevada and California Stage Company. This was a claim for $219,857 made by the stage company against the government for the performance of additional service in carrying the mails in New-York City in the period from 1883 to 1897. This period covered a time in which there was a quite general reorganization of the postal system of New-York City, and in which the branch postoffice at Lexington-ave, and 44th-st, was established. The claim was made that the changes resulted in almost doubling the mileage of the contractors. The Court of Claims awarded damages for $23,021, and both parties to the controversy appealed.

BURTON SENTENCE LATER

Postponed for Two Days-Fine May Be Imposed Also.

St. Louis, Nov. 27 .- On motion by counsel for the defence Judge Van Devanter, in the United States Circuit Court to-day, postponed until next Wednesday morning passing of sentence upon United States Senator J. Ralph Burton, of Kansas, convicted of having acted as the paid attorney of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company before the Postoffice Department. On Wednesday the defence will present its reasons for asking a new trial.

Judge Van Devanter, after agreeing to postpone the passing of sentence, said that it might be of some assistance to the defence to know that in passing sentence he would impose a penalty upon one of the counts charging Burton with agreeing to receive compensation and upon one of the counts charging that Burton received compensation.

The court said that the terms of imprisonment would be concurrent, beginning and ending at the same time. Judge Van Devanter said that whether or not he would impose a fine was a matter that he would give further consideration. Senator Burton's attorney, Mr. Lehman, gave notice that he would file a motion in arrest of judgment. In the event that sentence is passed the attorneys for the defence will then file a motion asking a stay of execution pending the decision by the Court of Appeals.

Senator Burton seemed in exceptionally good spirits. There was color in his cheeks, and for first time since the trial began last Monday he voluntarily talked with the newspaper men reporting the proceedings.

COTTON 'CHANGE EXCITED

May Cotton Goes to 12 Cents on Liverpool Report.

The Cotton Exchange was a scene of great excitement yesterday morning when the rush of by Jack, who was found guilty of contempt of traders to fill orders sent May cotton up to 12 court for refusing to testify before the State cents a pound and increased the prices of January and March options proportionately. The reasons for the sensational advance were the report by cable that there had been an increase of half a cent a pound in the Liverpool market and the discovery that bear interests in this city had changed front and had covered their shorts by quiet buying on Saturday.

The trading in cotton yesterday was on an enormous scale, the bull operators apparently having decided to pull together and force the price of cotton up to 15 cents in the near future if the government report should make as bad a showing as has been predicted. The market yesterday closed firm.

AGAINST JUDSON ONLY.

Hoadley and Leiter Not in Jury's Stock Smash Verdict.

The suit brought by Willard H. Jones & Co. against Joseph H. Hoadley, Joseph Leiter and Cyrus Field Judson to recover $67,500 lost by the plaintiffs in the International Power stock smash in April, 1902, was given to the jury after the charge by Justice Dowling yesterday

The jury was out two hours, and then brought in a verdict for the full amount against Judson only. Edmund L. Mooney, counsel for the plaintiffs, was much surprised at the verdict, and moved to set it aside. His motion was denied.

Justice Dowling allowed an extra allowance of $1,000 to Hoadley, but he refused to grant the same allowance to Letter. Mr. Mooney said that he would appeal.
